

Submitted by: Laurie M. Lauzon Clabo, Interim Provost and Senior Vice President for Academic Affairs

DISCONTINUANCE OF THE MASTER OF SCIENCE IN WOMEN'S HEALTH NURSE PRACTITIONER SPECIALTY

Recommendation

It is recommended that the Board of Governors discontinue the Master of Science in Nursing (MSN) in Women's Health Nurse Practitioner Specialty, effective Spring/Summer term 2021.

Background

The program has been on moratorium for at least 10 years. No students have graduated from this specialty since 2010 and no students are currently enrolled.

Program Description

The Women's Health Nurse Practitioner Specialty in the MSN Program was a specialty offered by the College of Nursing to provide current knowledge and skills for advanced nursing practice in women's health.

Approvals

The proposal to discontinue the certificate was approved by the Faculty of the College of Nursing, the Associate Dean of Academic and Clinical Affairs, the Dean of the College of Nursing and the Interim Provost.